MAIN FEATURES

Permanent and long-term movements

Provisional estimates of permanent arrivals (settlers) for the four months April to July 1981, were 38,100, 30 per cent higher than the estimates for the same period of 1980. Together with 26,400 long-term arrivals, the inflow to Australia of permanent and long-term arrivals exceeded 64,500, an increase of 20.8 per cent over the corresponding number in 1980.

Permanent and long-term departures, however, declined compared with 1980. In these four months there were 5,900 permanent and 18,700 long-term departures, making a total of 24,600. This represents a decline of 13.0 per cent compared with 1980 permanent and long-term departures for the same period.

The balance of permanent and long-term arrivals and departures for this period was a net gain of 39,900, an increase of 59.1 per cent over the net gain for the same period in 1980.

Short-term movements

Overseas visitor arrivals for the period April to July 1981 were estimated at 283,400, an increase of 5.2 per cent over corresponding figures for 1980. The largest increase occurred in the month of April, for which more detailed statistics are available in this publication. The number of Australian residents departing overseas for short-term visits was 422,700, a marginal increase of 0.5 per cent over the same period in 1980.

There was an increase of 19.7 per cent from April 1980 to April 1981 in the number of visitor arrivals specifying holiday as the main purpose for visiting Australia. Decreases occurred in the numbers specifying business or accompanying a business traveller as their main purpose.
