SENSITIVITY ANALYSIS

Readers should exercise care in the interpretation of the trend data as the last two observations, in particular, are likely to be revised with the addition of subsequent months' data. To illustrate this, graph 'a' below shows the effect a +1.0 per cent seasonally adjusted result in July 1993 will have on recent trend series movements. Graph 'b' shows what will happen if the July seasonally adjusted result is -1.0 per cent.

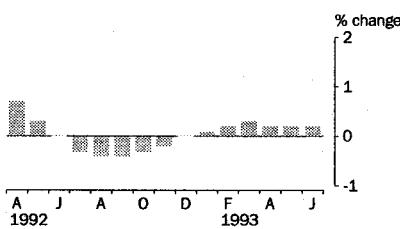

For readers information, July seasonally adjusted percentage changes over the last five years were 0.6 per cent in 1992, 1.4 per cent in 1991, -1.2 per cent in 1990, 0.9 per cent in 1989 and 0.6 per cent in 1988.

STATE TRENDS

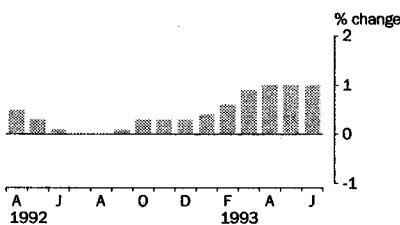

MONTHLY PERCENTAGE CHANGE IN TREND ESTIMATES

NEW SOUTH WALES

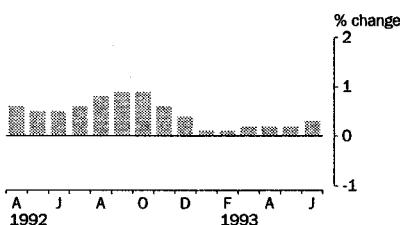

Growth in the trend estimates for New South Wales has remained weak during the first half of 1993.

VICTORIA

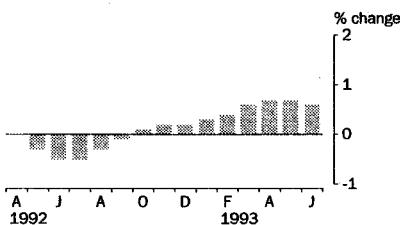

Victorian trend estimates showed strong growth with increases of 1.0 per cent for each of the last three months.

QUEENSLAND

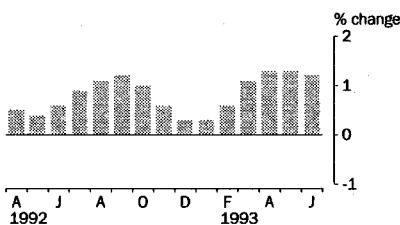

Trend estimates for Queensland, although still relatively weak, showed gradual improvement since February 1993.

SOUTH AUSTRALIA

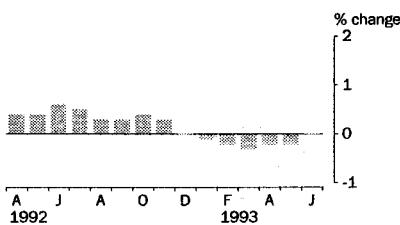

The trend estimates for South Australia showed moderate growth over recent months following a long period of weak or declining growth throughout 1992.

WESTERN AUSTRALIA

Western Australia trend estimates continued to show strong growth. June was the fourth consecutive month for which the increase had been greater than 1.0 per cent.

TASMANIA

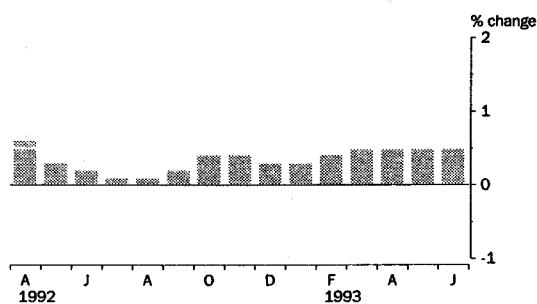

Although trend estimates for Tasmania have been in decline for the first half of 1993, the rate of decline has now reduced.

INDUSTRY TRENDS

RETAIL INDUSTRIES

Total "Retail only" industries (excluding industries categorised to the Service industry grouping) have shown moderate growth so far this year. The current growth rate of 0.5 per cent is the same as the "all industries" growth rate.

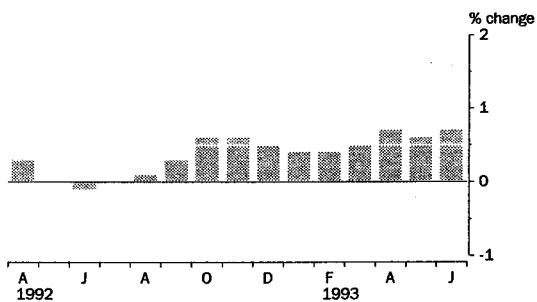

FOOD RETAILING

Growth in the trend estimates for this group remains weak. While Grocers have shown moderate growth, both Butchers and Other food stores have been in decline in recent months.

NON-FOOD RETAILING

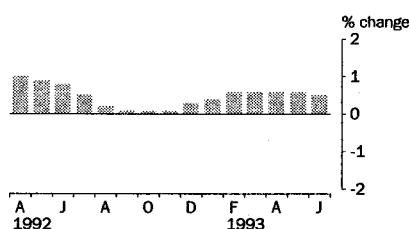

For this group (includes Household goods and Other industry groups), growth in trend estimates has been stronger than the "all industries" growth rates. This is due mainly to the strong growth evident in the Department store, Domestic hardware store/Jeweller and Pharmacy industries.

GROCERS

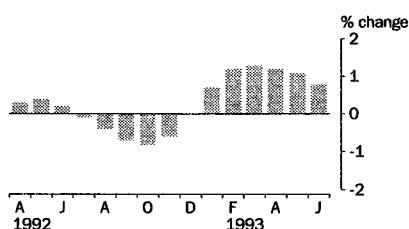

The largest industry, Grocers, has shown moderate growth over the first half of 1993. The growth rate has been around 0.6 per cent for each of the last 5 months.

DEPARTMENT STORES

There has been strong growth in the trend estimates for Department stores over the last three months.

ELECTRICAL GOODS STORES

Following a period of strong growth in mid 1992, the trend estimates showed a period of little or no growth from January to May 1993. June rose by 0.4 per cent.

EXPLANATORY NOTES

INTRODUCTION

- 1 This publication presents monthly estimates of the value of turnover of retail businesses classified by industry, and by State.
- 2 Estimates of turnover contained in this publication are based on a survey of 6,500 retail and selected service businesses (or over 19,000 outlets). All 'large' businesses are included in the survey, while a sample of 'smaller' businesses is selected. The 'large' businesses contribute approximately 50% of the total estimate.

SCOPE AND COVERAGE

- 3 The scope of the survey:
 - includes the following retail trade businesses (Australian Standard Industrial Classification [ASIC]):
 - department and general stores (4814, 4815)
 - clothing and fabric stores (4843, 4844, 4847)

DEFINITION OF TURNOVER

- 4 Turnover includes retail sales; wholesale sales; takings from repairs, meals and hiring of goods (except for rent, leasing and hiring of land and buildings); and commissions from agency activity (e.g. commissions received from collecting dry cleaning, selling lottery tickets, etc).

INDUSTRY DESCRIPTION

- 5 The description of the industries for which statistics are published in this publication align with the titles given in ASIC, except for the following groupings:
 - Other food stores: ASIC classes 4883, 4885, 4886
 - Hotels, liquor stores, licensed clubs: ASIC classes 9232, 4884, 9241, 9242, 9243
 - Clothing and fabrics stores: ASIC classes 4843, 4844, 4847
 - Electrical goods stores: ASIC classes 4855, 4856
 - Other stores: ASIC classes 4892, 4893, 4895, 4896, 4897, 9351, 9352

CONSTANT PRICE STATISTICS

6 To enable analysis of the movement of retail activity in 'real' terms, estimates of retail turnover at constant (average 1989-90) prices are compiled each quarter. Constant price retail turnover series are derived by deflating the original current price series of retail turnover by specially compiled indexes of price change.

RELIABILITY OF ESTIMATES

7 The two types of error possible in an estimate based on a sample survey are:

Non sampling error which arises from inaccuracies in collecting, recording and processing the data. The most significant of these errors are: misreporting of data items; deficiencies in coverage; non-response; and processing errors. Every effort is made to minimise reporting error by the careful design of questionnaires, intensive training and supervision of interviewers, and efficient data processing procedures. Where there is known non-sampling error — such as an approximate 1 to 2% non-response rate — it is considered that the effect is negligible.

Sampling error which occurs because a sample, rather than the entire population, is surveyed. One measure of the likely difference resulting from not including all establishments in the survey is given by the standard error, see below.

STANDARD ERRORS

8 There are about two chances in three that a sample estimate will differ by less than one standard error from the figure that would have been obtained if all in-scope units had been included, and about nineteen chances in twenty that the difference will be less than two standard errors.

9 Seasonally adjusted, trend and constant price estimates are also subject to sampling variability. For seasonally adjusted estimates, the standard errors are approximately the same percentage of the estimate as for the unadjusted series. For trend estimates, the standard errors are likely to be smaller. For constant price estimates, the standard errors may be up to 10 per cent higher than those for the corresponding current price estimates because of the sampling variability contained in the prices data used to deflate the current price estimates.

10 The standard errors for some industries in some States are relatively high and users are advised to exercise caution in interpreting movements for such series. Users interested in obtaining the standard errors for any series or further information should contact the person shown in the Inquiries box on page 1 of this publication.

SEASONAL ADJUSTMENT

11 Seasonal adjustment is a means of removing the estimated effects of normal seasonal variation from the series so that the effects of other influences can be more clearly recognised.

12 In the seasonal adjustment of the turnover estimates, account has been taken of both normal seasonal factors and 'trading-day' effects (arising from the varying length of each month and the varying numbers of Sundays, Mondays, Tuesdays, etc. in the month). For total turnover for Australia, adjustment has also been made for the effects of change in the date of Easter and Australia Day holidays. Seasonal adjustment does not remove from the series the effect of irregular influences (e.g. abnormal weather, industrial disputes) and the seasonally adjusted estimates still reflect the sampling and non-sampling errors to which the original estimates are subject.

TREND ESTIMATES

13 The smoothing of seasonally adjusted series to create trend estimates is a means of reducing the impact of the irregular component of the series. The trend estimates are derived by applying a 13-term Henderson-weighted moving average to the respective seasonally adjusted series. These trend series are used to analyse the underlying behaviour of the series over time.

14 While this smoothing technique enables estimates of trend to be produced for the latest month, it does result in revisions to the estimates for the most recent months as data for subsequent months become available. Generally subsequent revisions become smaller and after 3 months have a negligible impact on the series. For more information see A Guide to Smoothing Time Series — Estimates of Trend (1316.0) and Time Series Decomposition — An Overview (1317.0).
