

CHAPTER V.—LABOUR ORGANIZATIONS.

§ 1. Labour Organizations.

1. General.—In Labour Report No. 2 an outline was given of the method adopted to ascertain the number of members of labour organizations in Australia, and tabulated results up to the end of 1912 were included. From the beginning of 1913 quarterly returns were obtained from a considerable number of trade unions, both as to membership and unemployment, and these were supplemented at the end of each year by special inquiries as to the membership of those unions which, owing to the nature of the callings and industries covered, were unable to furnish quarterly unemployment returns. The following pages show the general situation in regard to the trades union movement in Australia at present, and its development since 1939. The affairs of single unions are not disclosed in the published results and this has assisted in securing complete information. The Bureau is greatly indebted to the secretaries of trade unions for their cordial co-operation in supplying information.

In this chapter figures for the years 1947 to 1950 are compared with 1939. Particulars for earlier years will be found in preceding issues of the Labour Report.

2. Trade Unions—Number and Membership 1939 and 1947 to 1950.—The following table gives particulars of the number of separate unions and the number of members at the end of the years 1939 and 1947 to 1950:—

NOTE.—Minus sign (—) denotes decrease.

The types of trade unions in Australia vary greatly, and range from the small independent association to the large interstate organization, which, in its turn, may be a branch of an international body. Broadly speaking, there are four distinct classes of labour organizations:—(i) the local independent; (ii) the State; (iii) the interstate; and (iv) the Australasian or international. The schemes of organization of interstate or federated unions vary greatly in character. In some unions the State organizations are bound together under a system of unification with centralized control, while in others the State units are practically independent and self-governing, the federal bond being loose and existing only for one or two specified purposes.

In the table just given, under the heading "Number of Separate Unions", a union with members in a State is counted as one union within that State. The figures by States do not add to the Australian total (shown in the last column) because a union represented in more than one State is included in the figure for each State in which it is represented, but is counted only once in the Australian total.

Because of the difficulties involved, the collection of statistics relating to the "Number of Branches" of trade unions appearing in previous issues of this publication, has now been discontinued.

3. Trade Unions—Industrial Groups, 1939 and 1947 to 1950.—The following table gives the number and membership of trade unions in Australia in industrial groups at the end of the years 1947 to 1950 compared with 1939.

4. Trade Unions: Numbers of Male and Female Members and Ratio to Total Wage and Salary Earners:—(i) States, 1950.—Since 1939, the estimates of numbers of male and female wage and salary earners (including unemployed) have been based on data obtained largely from the National Register of July, 1939, the Civilian Register of June, 1943, the Occupation Survey of June, 1945, records of Defence Forces and the 1947 Census. The estimated numbers of wage and salary earners for the years shown in the tables below include (a) persons who were "not gainfully occupied" before the outbreak of war, but who subsequently entered wage-earning employment and (b) persons who in normal times would be occupied in their own business but undertook wage and salary earning employment during the war and immediate post-war period.

The following table shows for each State, the number of males, females and persons who are members of trade unions and the percentage of all wage and salary earners who are members of unions. The estimated number of wage and salary earners includes all persons in receipt of wages or salary, as well as those unemployed, and therefore embraces a number of persons who are not eligible for membership of any trade union, such as certain persons employed in professional occupations, as well as others who, while eligible for membership so far as the nature of their trade or occupation is concerned, do not reside in a locality which is covered by any union devoted to their particular trade or occupation.

In the last part of the preceding table the percentage which the membership in each group bears to the total membership of all groups is given. The tendency towards closer organization is evidenced by the fact that although membership of trade unions has increased since 1912 by 271 per cent., the number of unions having less than 2,000 members has considerably decreased, namely, from 360 to 255. In 1950, 7.6 per cent. of trade union members belonged to unions having less than 2,000 members as compared with 13.7 per cent. in 1939 and 28.1 per cent. in 1912.

6. Interstate or Federated Trade Unions.—The following table gives particulars regarding number and membership of interstate or federated trade unions having branches in two or more States. The figures include interstate unions registered under the Commonwealth Conciliation and Arbitration Act, as well as federated unions which are not so registered :—

	1950 ..	41,389	41,090	121,180	395,012	832,918	1,431,479

(a) Certain unions in this group have, in addition to branches in the States, branches in the Northern Territory and in the Australian Capital Territory.

The number of organizations operating in two or more States has increased from 72 in 1912 to 140 in 1950, and the percentage of the membership of such organizations on the total membership of all organizations has risen from 65 per cent. to 89 per cent. during the same period.

7. Central Labour Organizations.—In each of the capital cities, as well as in a number of other industrial centres, delegate organizations, consisting of representatives from a group of trade unions, have been established. Their revenue is raised by means of a per capita tax on the members of each affiliated union. In the majority of the towns where such central organizations exist, most of the local unions are affiliated with the central organization, which is usually known as the Labour or the Trades Hall Council, or the Labour Federation. In Western Australia a unified system of organization extends over the industrial centres throughout the State, and there is a provincial branch of the Australian Labour Party, having a central council and executive, and metropolitan and branch district councils to which the local bodies are affiliated. The central council, on which all district councils are represented, meets periodically. In the other States, however, the organization is not so close, and though provision usually exists in the rules of the central council in the capital city of each State for the organization of district councils, or for the representation on the central council of the local councils in the smaller industrial centres of the State, the councils in each State are, as a matter of fact, independent bodies. The following table gives the number of metropolitan and district or local labour councils, together with the number of unions and branches of unions affiliated therewith, in each State at the end of the years 1939 and 1947 to 1950.

The figures regarding number of unions do not necessarily represent separate unions, since the branches of a large union may be affiliated with the local trades councils in the several towns in which they are represented.

Between the trade union and the central organization of unions may be classed certain State or district councils organized on trade lines and composed of delegates from separate unions whose member's interests are closely connected by reason of their occupations. Delegate councils of bakers, bread carters and mill employees, or of unions connected directly or indirectly with the metal trades, or with the building trades, may be so classed.

A Central Labour Organization, called the Australasian Council of Trade Unions, came into being during 1927. The Council was created to function on behalf of the Trade Unions of Australia, and was founded at an All-Australian Trade Union Congress held in Melbourne in May, 1927. The Australasian Council is based on the Metropolitan Trades and Labour Councils in each State, such bodies having the right to appoint two representatives to act on the Executive of the Council. In addition to the representatives from the Metropolitan Councils, the Executive consists of four officers, viz., the President, two Vice-Presidents, and a Secretary, who are elected by and from the All-Australian Trade Union Congress.

The objective of the Council is the socialization of industry, i.e., production, distribution and exchange. The methods to be adopted are:—(a) The closer organization of the workers by the transformation of the Australian Trade Union Movement from the craft to an industrial basis by the establishment of one Union in each industry; (b) the consolidation of the Australasian Labour Movement with the object of unified control, administration, and action; (c) the centralized control of industrial disputes; and (d) educational propaganda among Unions.

The A.C.T.U. is the first interstate body in Australia with authority to deal with industrial matters of an interstate character affecting the Trade Union movement generally. It is also the body responsible for submitting the names of suitable persons from which the Commonwealth Government selects the Australian Workers' delegate to the Annual International Labour Conference.

8. Organizations Registered under the Conciliation and Arbitration Act.—Under Part VI. of the Conciliation and Arbitration Act any employer or association of employers in any industry who has employed not less than 100 employees during six months preceding application for registration, and any association of not less than 100 employees in any industry may be registered.* Registered unions include both interstate associations and associations operating within one State only.

* Under the Arbitration (Public Service) Act an association of less than 100 employees may be registered as an organization, provided that its members comprise at least three-fifths of all persons engaged in that industry in the Service. Such organizations are included in the figures shown in the paragraph following.

At the end of 1950 the number of employers' organizations registered under the provisions of the Act was 52. The number of unions registered at the end of 1950 was 146, with a membership of approximately 1,331,379 representing 83 per cent. of the total membership of all trade unions in Australia.

§ 2. International Labour Organization.

1. General.—The International Labour Organization originated in the Peace Treaty of 1919 which made provision for the holding of International Labour Conferences and the institution of the International Labour Office. In the inter-war period, the International Labour Organization was an autonomous associate of the League of Nations, and in 1946, became the first of the specialized agencies of the United Nations. Under the terms of agreement, the United Nations recognizes the International Labour Organization as a specialized agency having responsibility in the field defined by its Constitution which embraces labour conditions, industrial relations, employment organization, social security, and other aspects of social policy. The Organization has three basic parts. These are the International Labour Conference, its highest authority, which, as a rule, meets annually; the Governing Body, its executive council which usually meets four times a year; and the International Labour Office which provides the secretariat of the Organization. The Conference is composed of national delegations comprising two government delegates and one delegate each of employers and workers, together with their advisers. The Governing Body comprises the representatives of sixteen governments, eight worker members and eight employer members. Particulars are given in previous Labour Reports of the proceedings at International Labour Conferences up to the 33rd Session which opened in Geneva on 7th June, 1950.

2. The 34th Session.—The 34th Session of the International Labour Conference was held at Geneva from 6th to 30th June, 1951.

The Australian Delegation included the following:—Government Delegates: Mr. W. Funnell (Leader, Secretary of Department of Labour and National Service; Dr. I. G. Sharp, Department of Labour and National Service; Employers' Delegate: Mr. H. J. Hendy; Workers' Delegate: Hon. A. J. White.

Yugoslavia resumed its membership and the Conference approved of the admission to membership of the Federal Republic of Germany and of Japan. The Federal Republic of Germany immediately assumed membership; Japan had to wait for formal ratification by the Diet. The Conference adopted two conventions, one on equal remuneration for men and women workers for work of equal value, the other on minimum wage-fixing machinery in agriculture.

Other items discussed were the Director-General's Report, financial and budgetary questions, information and reports on the application of Conventions and Recommendations, social security, industrial relations and holidays with pay in agriculture.

3. Governing Body.—At the triennial elections to the Governing Body held during the 34th Conference, Australia was elected a Deputy Government member, and Mr. A. E. Monk was re-elected a titular Workers' Member.

During 1950–51 the Governing Body held its 113th to 115th Sessions. At the 113th held at Brussels, Australia was represented by Dr. A. Wynne. The 114th and 115th sessions were held at Geneva. Australia was represented at the former by Mr. B. C. Ballard, Australian Representative to the European Office of the United Nations and at the latter by Mr. P. Shaw, Mr. Ballard's successor.

SECTION V.

Retail Prices.

RESOLUTIONS OF THE CONFERENCE OF COMMONWEALTH AND STATE STATISTICIANS HELD AT CANBERRA, 20TH NOVEMBER TO 22ND NOVEMBER, 1950.

"C" SERIES RETAIL PRICE INDEX.

Post-war Review.—

- (a) That Conference noted the views expressed by the Commonwealth Court of Conciliation and Arbitration on the index and the Court's use of the index especially in relation to matters referred to in Conference Resolution 14 (d) (ii) of 1949.
- (b) That the index should continue as a strict price index, and all Statisticians should continue to make it clear that the index does not purport to measure changes in the "cost of living" (irrespective of standard).
- (c) That the post-war review of the index (Conference Resolutions 14 and 15 of 1949) should be undertaken by the Commonwealth Statistician in the light of Conference discussions of principles and of key problems.
- (d) That this post-war review should proceed in conjunction with State Statisticians as may be arranged by correspondence.
- (e) That it is desirable to preserve the continuity of the index as a measure of price variations from period to period as fully as is consonant with changing circumstances.
- (f) That, while the regimen of the index should be varied or supplemented in the light of changed or changing circumstances, it should not be unduly distended by the addition of numerous items of small importance.
- (g) That the item "fresh milk" be divided into two items "loose milk" and "bottled milk", half the weight being allotted to each. In towns where quotes for bottled milk are not available, a price should be imputed from the local price of loose milk on the ratio of the price of bottled milk to the price of loose milk in the appropriate metropolitan area.

SECTION VI.

Minimum Rates of Wage for Adult Male Workers in the Main Occupations in the Capital City of each State for a Full Week's Work at 31st December, 1950.

NOTE.—These rates are quoted from the latest Awards, Determinations, or Agreements which were in force at 31st December, 1950. Where two or more Award, Determination, or Agreement Rates are quoted, the reason for such is that different rates of wage have been fixed for various classes or grades of work. In certain cases of this nature the wages are shown in the form (say) 160s. 0d. to 177s. 6d., indicating that in addition to the two rates specified there are also certain intermediate rates in force. In other cases the rates are shown in the form 170s. 6d. and 177s. 6d., indicating that there are only two minimum or standard rates in force for different classes or grades of work, and that there are no intermediate minimum or standard rates. Except where otherwise specified by a numerical prefix in small type, the hours of labour constituting a full week's work are 40. (See footnotes below).

SECTION IX.

Basic Wage Rates—1923 to 1952.

(Commonwealth Court of Conciliation and Arbitration).

The following table shows the basic weekly wage rates prescribed for adult males under periodical decisions of the Commonwealth Court of Conciliation and Arbitration including automatic variations made in accordance with quarterly changes in the retail price index for the city or combination of cities shown at the head of the table. The amount legally payable in any specific instance must be determined by reference to the appropriate award.

- (1) The rates of wages shown include "Powers 3s." (or the equivalent thereof) and Prosperity Loadings, where applicable.
- (2) The 10 per cent. reduction operative from February, 1931, to May, 1934, has been applied.
- (3) Generally the rates operated from the beginning of the first pay period commencing in the month indicated.

(a) The index-numbers given in the separate columns of the table cannot be compared with each other in order to show, for example, the relative cost of housing, and food and groceries, since the cost in 1911 in each group or combination of groups is made equal to 1,000. (b) See footnote (b) on page 10. (c) Index of nominal weekly wage rates for adult males divided by "C" Series Retail Price Index-number. (d) Taken back from true base (November, 1914) by means of the "A" Series Index (Food and Rent of All Houses). (e) Includes all members of reporting unions indirectly affected by the industrial dispute in the coal-mining industry; those directly affected are, however, excluded.
